LAND SHOW MODEL OF BEAUTY.

Exhibition of Copied Nature Awaits Coliseum Visitors—Feast for Eye and Mind.

Amid the clash and clatter of hammers, big and little, peach trees and cotton plants are blooming in riotous profusion under the steel girders of the Coliseum, where today arrangements for the Land and Irrigation Exposition under the auspices of the Tribune are nearing completion.

With all of the floor space allotted, exhibitors from every point of the compass began moving their displays to the various positions Saturday afternoon. Carpenters and decorators have completed their work ahead of the scheduled time, and those in charge of the various exhibits will have uninterrupted possession from today until next Saturday, when thousands of bulbs will flash with the electric current, and the great panoramic pictures of land stretches and irrigation projects are thrown open to the public.

Many of the displays are in place. These are exquisite examples of the work of scenic artists and papier mache experts. Pictures of beautiful valleys delight the eye, while the effects of snow capped mountains and massive canons are simulated in a fashion which dumfounds the layman.

The Santa Fe railroad had adobe bricks baked in New Mexico and there will be erected an adobe house at the exposition such as one will see, in the quaint towns in the south-west along that road. Also this same company will have on exhibition a number of photos together with products of the farm, orchard and garden of the Panhandle and Plains country of Texas, all to fully demonstrate the wonderful growth and modern improvements that is going on in that part of the country.

PEACH ORCHARDS ARE REALISTIC

Here are peach orchards of southern California, rich in coloring and worked out with such faithful attention to detail that one naturally expects to catch a faint fragrance as a breath of air stirs over the picture.

While bird's-eye pictures are taking the place of the bare floor big expanses of "blue sky" are reaching out and covering steel rafters of the big room. One hundred men have put the "sky" where it ought to be.

Great squares of blue bunting were stretched in undulating waves from gallery to gallery and from one end of the Coliseum to the other. When the afternoon sun slanted its rays across the big dome Saturday the effect was of a summer sky, bright blue, shading off at one end as though fading away into the gloom of night.

Finally night fell and the exhibitors were gathered about the door ready to quit work over Sunday and the scene was suddenly changed.

"SKY" IS TURNED INTO "HEAVENS."

A touch of a button and a day "sky" was converted into a resplendent picture of the heavens at night. Here and there over the great dome, now topping a peak in the picture of Yellowstone park, now glowing warmly over the panorama of some southern valley, electric light stars flared out.

The sky bunting is studded with these bulbs. They are inconspicuous in the daytime and at night take on the appearance of a starlit heaven. A generous ray gleams from what might be called Jupiter, while a tiny glow beside it carries the imagination to one of the farthest suns.

A "wise one" has said, "There's no copyright on stupidity" but don't be stupid and miss the intellectual treat at the Opera House next Thursday night. Homer T. Wilson's lecture.

Ralph Items

The farmers of this section are wearing smiles that won't come off on account of the rains on Friday and Saturday of last week.

Harry Uphold of Canyon City was a business caller at Ralph Tuesday. We were unable to learn the nature of his business but we could see that he was riding sheriff Sanford's horse and that fact made the boys feel a little shy of him.

It is reported that A. L. Roles is seriously ill this week with heart trouble. It is to be hoped that Mr. Roles will soon recover.

A. Smith and son, Tom, on last Wednesday loaded their car of household and farming machinery and moved back to Marshalltown, Iowa. They have been in this locality a little over a year and during that time have made a number of friends all of whom regret to see them leave. Judging from what is told, we may expect them back before another year as they seem to think that the plains country is enticing.

The last rain put the roads in bad condition and the road overseer was heard to remark that everybody must soon get busy and get them in shipshape again.

L. F. Douglass and Amos Uphold have leased the "Ames" farm and will move there this week.

R. W. Bruce, F. M. Craig and Clay Ross went on horseback to Canyon last Monday to attend district court. It was one of those airy days which makes such an outings so bracing.

On Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. at the Presbyterian manse in Canyon was solemnized the marriage of Clay E. Ross to Clarissa Roles, both of Ralph, the Rev. Groves officiating. Mr. Ross is one of the substantial business men of this place and came to Randall county about four years ago. He is a son of D. S. Ross who resides in Kingston, Texas. The bride is a daughter of our townsman, A. L. Roles, who formerly lived in Greenvale, Ill., coming to Ralph about three years ago. These young people are among the most popular and highly respected of our community and their many friends and neighbors wish them much happiness.

Mr. Ross is constructing a nice comfortable cottage in this place and until the same is completed they expect to live for a while with her parents, A. L. Roles and wife. The boys all appreciate the kind way he treated them Monday. Mr. Ross was recently appointed Justice of the Peace for this precinct.

Guess Who

L. W. Rickett of Hereford was in town yesterday.

Rev. J. T. Burnett of Amarillo was in town Thursday.

V. G. Hart of Dallas was a business caller in Canyon Thursday.

Dr. R. M. Johnson of Hereford came down Thursday on business.

J. Molesworth of Clarendon is in town looking after business interests.

S. R. Williams was over from Amarillo looking after contract work this week.

J. B. Ratliff of Amarillo was in Canyon Monday looking after business matters.

Walter Lair of the Canyon Supply Co. was a business caller to Amarillo Tuesday.

M. M. Olin, of Lanaark, Ill., arrived in Canyon yesterday. He expects to be here several days looking after his farms near here.

Bedford Carter, a carpenter, came in Sunday from Wichita and will work on the New Bank building. Mr. Carter was here all last winter and was one of the carpenters on the court house.

Goodnight Grabblings

The first quarter of school closes this week. It has been a very successful one, but we hope to make next quarter the best we have ever had. Friends, how can you miss this opportunity of school? It is worth money to you. Parents, you are depriving your children of an education.

The house for the printing press has been finished and part of the machinery has arrived.

Last week the high school foot-ball team played the academy team. The score was seven to eight in favor of high school.

We were blessed with a good rain from Friday to Monday noon. It put a good season in the ground for wheat.

The friends of Messrs. Wilson and Beaufort Black from Amarillo and Claude could not come Saturday to go on the "deer" hunt on account of the rain but all hope to go soon.

Jack Storm recently went to Plainview where she will visit relatives and attend school until Christmas.

R. G. Dye was in Goodnight on business last week.

Dr. D. Roach has returned from a three month's treatment. We hope he has regained his health so that he can remain in our midst.

Mrs. Dodge of Claude has been visiting here lately.

The unfinished concrete store building, of Smith Mer. Co., which was demolished by a wind some three weeks ago, is being rebuilt on the same site.

Mr. and Mrs. Wingo stopped here for a few days visit on their return to their home, Dalhart, from the convention.

The ladies of the cemetery association are going to make a big display Thanksgiving. The proceeds are to be used for fencing the cemetery.

IT IS "THE COALMAN'S ENEMY."

Double advantage over all the old style single blast heater in that the blast pipes are out of the way in building fires. It is air tight and a shovel full of coal will last all night. Open up the draft in the morning and you have a hot fire. This heater burns soft coal, hard coal, wood, slack or lignite and we guarantee it against any other stove on the market for its beauty, durability, economy and price.

Let us show you this remarkable heater.
